The Hope Public schools opened Monday with an enrollment of 1,444 students for the four white schools as compared with 1,390 for last year. The Yerger high school and elementary school enrolled 776 for the first day which makes a total of 2,-220 for the entire city.

Big Increases The first day enrollment in some white schools ran above the entire enrollment of the year 1940-'41. Paisley elementary school lacked only eight having as large enrollment the first day that the entire last year brought, while Oglesby ran elevent more than the total enrollment of last year. Brookwood school lacked only five the first day that the entire year had last year.

This shows a decided increase for the white schools over the peak load on last year. Elementary just two under the peak load of 40-41. While the high school 56 the first day over the peak load of last year.

THE STORY: The felephone bell in Judy Alten's apartment rings insistently as she leaves it for the last time, but she does not answer. With her is handsome, dependable Philip Rogers, attorney for the magnetine of which she is an associate editor and the man she is soon to marry. She knows who is calling—Sindy Anmerman, daring, impulsive aviator. Judy decided her intense interest in Sandy was only infatuation when newspaper stories linked him romantically with helress Peg Gordan. Only question mark left in Judy's now wellorganized life is her secretary, Sara Fuller, jenious of Judy and obviously disloyal.

And when her brother invited one for her, the boy made a flimsy excuse-and Mary and her brother both knew he just didn't want to be tied down to a girl he knew he would be stuck with for whole evening.

Mary cried all evening and her mother could have cried for her, but she didn't. Instead, she sat down and tried to figure out what was wrong with Mary, and where she had failed her.

She decided that Mary had got off on the wrong foot with the kids of her age when she was only ten, and much too fat. Though her mother had, later on, seen that the weight was brought down to normal-Mary had already become a fat, unattractive girl in the minds of the boys and girls in her class.

Back in the spring, Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes, who also is national defense petroleum coordinator, smelled out a "potential" shortage in the eastern states' petroleum products, and what followed was a covernmental comic opera interlude, like "Pussy Wants a Corner," with everybody off base at once.

There were threats of gasolineless Stindays, gasoline ration cards, frigid arartments and houses because of lack of Beating oil and idle industries. Filling stations were closed from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. and finally their supplies of motor fuel were cut 10 per cent. All of which had the effect of increasing the consumption of gas-

In the interim, Price Administrator Leon Henderson slapped a ceiling on gasoline prices; railroads reduced rates on gasoline and crude nearer to tanker oil companies, nearly three months late, pledged to use all available tank cars; complaints came in to Deputy Petroleum Coordinator Ralph K Dayies that orders were not being filled because oil companies couldn't get tank cars, and the Republicans isked the removal of Ickes and Dabies as heads of the defense petroleum setup. An Open Letter to Arkansas Beer Retailers

For the past nincteen months this Committee has been working with you to improve conditions surrounding the retail sale of beer in Arkansas. We have been gratified by your general response. However, this work must be unceasing on our part and your part, and depends not only on our mutual effort, but also on the cooperation which we receive from the public. To give you further help in carrying on your business in a manner acceptable to the citizens of your community, we have created a poster with the following message to your patrons:

THE BEER INDUSTRY GOES ON RECORD

We abide by our licensee requirements: Not to serve persons who have overindulged. Not to sell minors under the legal age.

Not to permit any form of gambling, Not to permit our premises to become disorderly. Not to permit any immoral conduct.

Not to permit the use of profane or vulgar language, Not to allow questionable persons on the premises. Whether You Are A civilian A soldie.

We all have our responsibilities - let's observe them.

This poster will be furnished to you free of charge and should be prominently displayed in your establishment.

Judging by the support which the citizens of Arkansas have given our efforts to climinate improper conditions in the few outlets in which they exist, we feel that the display of this poster will again remind your patrons and the general public of their responsibility to help you abide strictly by the law.
